South Offers Own Rights Amendment

WASHINGTON (AP)—In a surprise move, Southern senators battling the House-passed civil rights bill have called up an amendment to provide for jury trials in criminal contempt-of-court cases.

With the Senate debate now in its 37th day, this maneuver could throw out of kilter the plans of Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois to bring up Thursday the first of 11 amendments he has offered to the anti-job-discrimination section of the measure.

However, Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., indicated they probably would not object to letting the Senate act first on the Dirksen amendments.

"If Sen. Dirksen wanted to get to his amendments first, we might by unanimous consent agree to lay ours aside temporarily," Russell told newsmen.

One immediate tactical benefit for the Dixie forces was to clear the way for them to make a new round of speeches without running afoul of the Senate's two-speech rule.

Asst. Democratic Leader Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, floor manager of the bill, had threatened to enforce the rule to cut down the flow of Southern oratory. But now each senator is free to make two speeches on Talmadge's amendment since it is new business before the Senate.

The jury-trial amendment was introduced Tuesday night by Sen. Herman E. Talmadge, D-Ga., with several of his Southern colleagues as cosponsors.

Bill to Give Defense All Asked for WASHINGTON (AP)—The House is expected to pass a $46.8 billion defense appropriation bill today that would give Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara almost everything he asked.

Approval by the House may be overwhelming despite the criticism heaped upon McNamara and his policies by Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R-Wis., and a few other Republicans.

Laird, who will head the platform committee at the Republican National Convention, told the House Tuesday that "no new major strategic systems have been introduced into the inventory by this administration."

Democrats and most other Republicans, however, stood up to voice their faith in the military superiority of the United States over any enemy.

While some members like Laird criticized defense policies in general, there was little specific criticism of the bill.

The bill would provide $11.3 billion for the Army, $14.3 billion for the Navy, $16.5 billion for the Air Force, and $7.7 billion for defense agencies.

The total of $46.8 billion is $461 million less than Congress appropriated last year and $712 million less than President Johnson requested in his January budget message.

AMONG THE MENAGERIE ANIMALS OF THE Barnes & Bailey Circus which will open its season with two performances in Hope this Thursday, is a fine collection of bears. Due to wet grounds the circus will perform at Fair Park.

ABOVE IS A CLOWNING YOUNG BLACK BEAR IN high good humor after making off with a pint of honey and a loaf of bread. The Star's editor photographed him Monday in Fair Park, where the circus is breaking up winter quarters to go on the road.

BARNES & BAILEY WILL SHOW AT 2:30 AND 8 P.M. Thursday at Fair Park. From Hope the circus goes to Hot Springs, advertised as America's second-largest tent circus.

Army Test Is Made for Charleston

FT. CHAFFEE, Ark. (AP)—The Army completed test firings here Tuesday convinced that its cannons are not breaking up houses at nearby Charleston.

The people are Charleston continue to wonder.

Harold White of Joplin, Mo., who measured the concussion of artillery shell explosions with a seismograph, should have a full report on the readings in about 10 days.

Lt. Col. Roland Libby, Chaffee's public information officer, said Tuesday's firings were "very good" because Charleston residents found that they made about the same noise as recent firings blamed for cracks in their houses.

Other firings, Charlestonians said, were not the same because of atmospheric conditions.

The Army fired six 155mm howitzers. The biggest guns at Chaffee are 8-inch howitzers.

Nine Charleston residents have complained that shell concussions have created cracks in walls, sidewalks and other parts of their houses.

Libby said the Army believes ground shrinkage due to lack of soil moisture because of last year's drought caused the cracks. The noise factor and the damage factor are not related, he said.

Russians Scorn China Greeting

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet leaders heaped scorn today on the birthday of Premier Khrushchev on his 70th greeting Red China sent to Premier Khrushchev and Yuri Andropov, a secretary of the Soviet Communist party's Central Committee.

Khrushchev let Andropov do most of the talking, but sat immediately behind Andropov and beamed as Andropov charged that the Chinese message was insincere.

The telegram was signed by Chinese leader Mao Tse-tung and Premier Chou En-lai.

It ended when Leo Berkman, 43, a city building inspector, stopped his car and made a citizen's arrest of a 15-year-old Negro boy. Berkman said the youth clouted him with a belt buckle when he identified himself. The other Negroes fled upon hearing police sirens.

Negroes Beat Hebrew Students

NEW YORK (AP)—About 50 Negro youths, shouting anti-Semitic epithets, attacked a group of Hebrew school pupils in Brooklyn Tuesday, injuring at least 15 of them, police said.

Two rabbis who went to the aid of their pupils were beaten and fled, police said.

After calm had been restored, 10 Negro youths beat up Samuel Lipsker, 10, outside the school.

The first outbreak occurred during noon recess at a Hebrew grammar-high school in the Bedford-Stuyvesant section, a predominantly Negro neighborhood.

The Negro youths, boys and girls, some carrying sticks, bottles, chains and switch-blade knives, began to push and hit pupils on the school grounds.

The pupils, ranging in age from 9 to 12, fought back with their fists, witnesses said.

Rabbi Abraham Barnetsky, 46 took on a boy he supposed to be a leader of the Negro youths. "Two of my fingers were cut by this garbage can lid," the rabbi said.

Another teacher, Rabbi Isidore Kolodny, was punched in the abdomen during the 10-minute fight.

It ended when Leo Berkman, 43, a city building inspector, stopped his car and made a citizen's arrest of a 15-year-old Negro boy. Berkman said the youth clouted him with a belt buckle when he identified himself. The other Negroes fled upon hearing police sirens.

2 of 5 Walk Away From Wreck

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP)—Two of five crewmen walked away from the wreckage of a six-jet Air Force weather reconnaissance plane after it crashed and burned on takeoff Tuesday.

Maj. Franklin A. Ross, the aircraft commander, and 1st Lt. Harry A. Lagerwell, the pilot, were seared on the face and hands by flames, but their condition was listed as "not too serious." They are from McClelland Air Force Base, near Sacramento, Calif.

The converted bomber, a WB-47, appeared to lose power in its three right engines as it lifted from the runway at Eielson Air Force Base. It dipped to the ground, slid 1,500 yds off the right side of the field and burst into flames.

The dead were listed as Capt. Warren S. Hillis, the navigator from McClelland; Maj. Conrad L. Lienhart Jr., instructor-navigator, Fairbanks, and T. Sgt. Charles F. Heckman, crewman, Fairbanks.

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—An automobile accident in which six persons were injured was blamed on a bee.

Traffic Investigator J. N. Anderson said a driver had stopped on Atlanta's expressway when a bee flew into the vehicle. He said another car had swerved to miss the first car and crashed head on into a third automobile.

Anderson said the first driver said she had stopped because she didn't want to cause an accident.

Blood Streams But Fair Opens on Schedule

By JAMES DEVLIN

NEW YORK (AP)—There were some clashes between police and civil rights demonstrators today but the World's Fair opened on schedule.

There had been threats that the fair opening would be disrupted by civil rights groups.

Violence broke out in a Queens subway station where some demonstrators jumped to the tracks in the city's first subway lie-in.

Twenty-five persons, some with blood streaming from heads and faces from wounds suffered in the fight with police, had been arrested by the time the fair opened.

The subway incident started when someone pulled an emergency cord that brought a train to a jarring halt.

Some demonstrators aboard the train leaped to the tracks while others tried to obstruct doors of the train.

Three white women were among those arrested. They chanted "Freedom now" and "Just like Birmingham" on arriving at a police station.

The demonstration had been planned largely as a stall-in—the deliberate stalling of automobiles to block traffic leading to the fair.

Police spotted a number of stalled cars and towed them away, but traffic appeared lighter than usual. Many motorists who ordinarily pass the fairgrounds area in commuting from Long Island to New York City apparently took other routes.

Richard Whalen, an Associated Press newsman flying in a helicopter, said policemen were posted in pairs along the fair approaches and that numerous tow cars were parked beside the highway.

James Farmer, national director of the Congress of Racial Equality who said he would lead the peaceful demonstrations inside the fair, said they were intended to spotlight the issues between the "glitter and the real world of discrimination."

Farmer led demonstrators in a march from a mid-Manhattan church to Pennsylvania Station where they boarded a Long Island Rail Road train for the fairgrounds to picket certain state and commercial exhibits.

Farmer carried a cattle prod, a battery-powered pole that produces an electric shock when pressed against cattle or people.

He also carried a placard that said: "This is a cattle prod used by Louisiana police."

He said CORE members had come from Missouri, Mississippi, Louisiana, Florida and other states.

"I personally am going to demonstrate against the Louisiana state police," he said.

3 Nashville Women Killed in Accident at Red River Bridge

Rainstorms Strike Across the Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Severe thunderstorms and rain hit areas in 13 states from Texas to the eastern Great Lakes region today after sweeping across sections of the Midwest.

Heavy rains in much of the eastern half of the nation this week have caused some flooding from swollen rivers and streams in parts of the Midwest.

The Cuyahoga River in northwestern Ohio was reported rising rapidly and nearing flood stage after Tuesday's downpours in the Cleveland area.

Downpours also drenched sections of southern Arkansas and surrounding areas. More than three inches fell in Pine Bluff, Ark. Locally severe thunderstorms rumbled across sections of the Ohio Valley during the night. Hail pelted scattered sections of Illinois and Indiana.

Wind gusts of 52 miles an hour lashed the Cincinnati area. Strong winds were reported in Flint, Mich.

Rain spread into the Pacific Northwest ahead of a new storm that was expected to bring snow and rain to the Plateau states. Livestock warnings were issued for southwest Idaho and northern and western parts of Nevada.

Early morning temperatures ranged from the upper 20s in New England to the 70s in the Gulf states.

Blood Streams

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York World's Fair premiere was threatened by civil rights sit-ins inside the fairgrounds today and an auto stall-in that could tie traffic to the fair in knots.

"What happens to us is unimportant," said leaders of the planned traffic jam Tuesday night. "The stall-in is on."

In Harlem, Bishop Alvin A. Childs of the Church of God in Christ said the demonstration threatened to turn into a "blood baptism."

About 2,000 police, reinforced by nearly 3,000 private guards were on duty to keep traffic moving and quell any disorderly demonstrations. Wire mesh stockades were built at the fair.

The Harlem Parents Committee, in a telegram Tuesday to United Nations Secretary-General U Thant, asked U.N. intervention "against containment of Negroes in concentration camp stockades at the World's Fair tomorrow."

The stall-in tactic, devised by the Brooklyn chapter of the Congress of Racial Equality, was rejected by the national CORE, which suspended the chapter. The Bronx, Queens and Manhattan CORE chapters, plus other militant civil rights groups, support the plan.

Stall-in leaders planned to put 2,000 cars on highways to the fair and then have them "run out of gas" or "break down." Another reported tactic was to have two such cars bump, so the drivers could stop and investigate the "accident."

Norman Hill, national program director for CORE, said 500 demonstrators—including at least 200 from Southern states—would picket, sit-in and lie-in at 11 pavilions.

"We plan a number of tactics including civil disobedience," he said.

Fair officials, after meeting with representatives of national CORE, issued a statement Tuesday saying, "We reserve all our rights to hold CORE, its officials and the demonstrators criminally and civilly liable."

"Any attempt by CORE to intrude on private property for secondary boycotting purposes is illegal and irresponsible," the statement said.

The fair adopted a regulation prohibiting demonstrations, parades, congregations, picketing or other similar acts on the grounds without a written permit from the fair corporation. It said violators would be "subject to ejection from the fair, arrest and prosecution."

The stall-in leaders went ahead with their plans despite a court order with possible con-

Their aim, the demonstration organizers said, was to call attention to their dissatisfaction with the pace of integration efforts. Their actions were not because of any grievance against the fair, they said.

He rapped briskly on Tani's door, and Jorge let him in. Don Fernando stood at the window of her living room, admiring the early sunlight on the sea. When she came into the room, he turned and smiled briefly at her. "You're very pale," he said. "Are you all right?" "I didn't sleep well," she said, and sat listless in the deep

Another Mentioned for Governor

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Sam P. Watson, 50, a Little Rock investment broker, said here Tuesday that he might run for governor in the Democratic primary.

It depends on the outcome of talks today with "some East Arkansas people," he said. Watson, who has not made a political race, said he had $500,000 in sight for campaign money.

"The fiscal policy of this state needs overhauling," Watson said. He said Amendment 49, which allows cities and counties to issue bonds and levy taxes to pay for the bonds in attracting industry, often traps those who pass the bonds.

had very little to do with his job of keeping peace in Cartagena. He used the information she supplied him as a potential political parachute. The gossip and rumors she collected were kept faithfully in his notebooks, and he knew there was a chance that these neat little archives might someday save his life.

Don Fernando had lived through one Civil War by having accidentally chosen the winning side. It was only a matter of luck that he hadn't been pulled from his bed and shot in the streets, and he didn't intend to leave such an important matter to chance again. Not that it mattered to him which groups or forces led the government. What mattered was safety, and the trick about being safe was to acquire the chameleon's art of blending invisibly into the colors that surround it. And the colors Don Fernando hoped to lose himself against were the colors of strength and victory.

Don Fernando took no action at all on the information Tani gave him. This was the subtle strength of his plan. If the present government continued in force, he could point to his collections of notebooks, crammed with their accounts of subversive hearsay, as evidence that he had been loyally ferreting out its detractors and enemies. But since he took no action, made no arrests, he would be able to prove to a rebel force that he had done nothing at all to help the government.

Perhaps this wouldn't be enough; but he intended to have something to say in his defense when and if the knocking sounded on his door late in the night. Don Fernando had come to have a superstitious feeling about Tani. As long as she stayed in the village he believed himself to be safe.

As he was putting his notebook away, she said abruptly, "I want to go away. Can't I go away?"

"There are entries in your passport which are irregular. I must study them carefully." "You've had it four months."

"In my work, I must be thorough."

"Please give it back to me," she said wearily. "Please let me go."

"We'll talk about that later," he said, and screwed the top back onto his fountain pen. Now, with the political charade over and done with, his manner became more relaxed, but also more serious. "Tell me what happened at Domingo's last night. A funny business, wasn't it?"

"He tried to kill himself, eh? I've heard various tales. I want to hear your account now."

the last 10 years.

Rocketteller accepted a Faubus appointment to the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission when the industry-hunting agency was created in 1955. He was elected as its first chairman and he held that post until a week before he announced for governor April 4.

Although they worked together, Faubus and Rocketteller were never close. They broke in 1957 when Rocketteller criticized Faubus' action in the Little Rock integration crisis.

Faubus became an international figure when he used National Guard troops to block integration of Central High School in Little Rock. It was the first confrontation of state and federal authority in the school integration struggle.

President Eisenhower federalized Faubus' guardsmen and enforced integration with federal troops, setting a precedent which President Kennedy later followed in crises in Mississippi and Alabama.

A year later Faubus closed Little Rock high schools against integration but, when federal courts invalidated his school closing law in 1959, he permitted schools to reopen under a plan of token integration.

In the last three years, schools at Pine Bluff, Hot Springs, and Mansfield have desegregated without action from the governor's office.

Faubus rode the segregation issue hard in only one campaign—1958—while he was still deeply involved in the crisis. He polled 70 per cent of the Democratic primary vote and he considered the heavy majority an action policy.

In 1960, when he won an endorsement of his anti-integrationist fourth term, and again in his fifth term campaign in 1962, he campaigned principally on the state's progress under his administration.

His popularity slipped from its 1958 peak, however. In 1960 he got 58 per cent of the vote, his majority dropped off to just under 52 per cent in 1962.

These percentages are from the Democratic primary. He has not had significant trouble from a Republican in his five campaigns.

But he expects a tough fight from Rocketteller. He has repeatedly appraised the transplanted New Yorker as a formidable opponent.

HOW TO GIVE TIMID CHILD A FAIR START IN LIFE
By DR. JOYCE BROTHERS

Dear Dr. Brothers: I have several children, and they so often bicker among themselves. One usually bears the brunt of it, but I'm usually too busy to iron out their differences. What effect can this strife between these children have upon them? Is it good or bad? —Mrs. N. G. G.

You Like Aggressiveness
Dear Mrs. N. G. G.: The chances are in this family group that one or two or more of your children are outgoing and aggressive. They stand up for their rights.

Certainly, they'll argue with you, and this will present problems and upset your good nature. But during your quiet moments when you and your husband are discussing your children alone, you will invariably forgive them, and say something like, "Jim and Jane will certainly be able to take care of themselves in life." Or, "There's no need to worry about them."

You say this with almost pride. You wouldn't say this to the children themselves, because if you praise this aggressiveness you feel it will become twice as bad.

But somewhere, sitting in the corner quietly, and not presenting any problems, may be a different little individual, a different little personality. He or she is the timid or shy youngster, bless his heart.

In the rush of family striving and pushing for possession, this little one is left out. It gets what attention is left, what toys are left, or what ice cream isn't devoured by the children.

No complaints, no tantrums—but perhaps quiet tears shed in the loneliness of his room once in awhile.

Family life is a pretty busy undertaking, and you have your problems. This shy child is giving you the least trouble, and is therefore receiving the least attention. Unfortunately, life in a family works that way. The difficult and demanding child gets the most attention, and the most toys. That's why he is acting that way. They're learned creating difficulty pays off.

Needs Attention
Now, let's look at the child who sits quietly in the corner. Take almost half of your child-attention, and give it to this one.

We know in child psychology that the chances are 9 out of 10 this quiet little youngster is masking his inner conflicts behind gentleness and unselfishness. It is not telling you his trouble, but cries alone because of them. This child may be insecure in the atmosphere of aggression created by brothers and sisters. She may run away when other combative children hit her, too frightened to stand up for herself.

If you give more attention to this little member of the family, it will have a very good effect on the selfish, aggressive members. They'll begin to see that a quiet, reasonableness has its rewards in attention, in favors, and even in ice cream.

But far more than that, you'll give this child a fair start in life. Give him or her outlets and goals that make himself or herself feel worthwhile, such as more participation, more activity, and development of all sorts of technical skills. Encourage hobbies: drawing, modeling, painting. And when it does something well in this form of self-absorbing hobby or play, praise what he's done. Do not center your praise upon the child. Children may not so much believe, or readily accept, praise of themselves. They'll always accept praise of what they have done.

Golf Circuit Changes, So Does Money

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (AP)—A quarter of a century ago a sports columnist hard up for material would yank an old acorn out of the fire and dash off a letter to mothers in the land.

"Don't rear your son to be a golf professional," he would advise, "unless you want him to starve to death."

It was sound counsel. There was only a handful of tournaments. Prize money totaled no more than $10,000, with top prize around $2,000. The leading money winner made between $8,000 and $10,000, which was quickly eaten up in travel expenses and caddy fees. Only three or four broke better than even. Most of the players struggled along on hamburger money.

Today a columnist searching for a rainy day idea would be compelled to change the tone of his imaginary letter to the nation's mothers. Playing on the golf tour has become more lucrative than working for General Motors.

There is one problem. The tour is getting too big and unwieldy. There is talk of breaking the tour into two groups - a sort of major and minor league. Also, some of the players, particularly the more prosperous ones such as Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus, are urging a curtailment of the major tournament schedule. Instead of 45 tournaments, they'd prefer 30.

This is one of the headaches facing the Professional Golfers Association as it takes over its new $4 million headquarters here on Florida's gold coast.

Last year, players competed for $2,349,000 in prize money in 45 official tournaments. Arnold Palmer got the most of the loot - a record $128,230. Jack Nicklaus, in second place, earned $100,040. Indicative of how times have changed for the better is Sentence of Death Confirmed

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Supreme Court affirmed today a death sentence given Jerry James Johnson in the fatal stabbing of a woman storekeeper in Pulaski County.

The court rejected all the grounds for reversal, including a contention that Negroes were systematically excluded from the jury that tried Johnson.

Johnson was arrested Feb. 8, 1963, after he allegedly admitted slaying Mrs. Aliene Arrington, whose body was found bound and stabbed 20 times in her grocery store at Rixey, near North Little Rock six months earlier.

Johnson was in jail for another offense at the time he discussed the stabbing, apparently voluntarily, with officers. Police said he re-enacted the crime. Later, however, he contended he was innocent and he was brought to trial.

The Supreme Court said witnesses corroborated the version of the crime which Johnson gave and later repudiated. Mrs. Arrington about 50, was slain July 31, 1962.

In a Phillips County case, the Supreme Court affirmed a chancery court decree that Leslie Goad was of sound mind when he changed the beneficiary of his insurance policy from his wife to his children.

The policy involved $15,322.

the fact that 14 players earned $30,000 and better, 40 made more than $19,000.

One of the strongest proponents of the double tour is Fred Corcoran, former tournament director of the PGA and now director of the International Golf Association.

Corcoran suggests that the major tour be limited to 100 or 125 leading players with the tapover 125 lesser lights confined to a secondary circuit. Players in the minors would have to earn their way to the big time.

The idea has drawn a strong objection from Jim Gaquin, current tournament manager for the PGA.

"It is true that our fields are getting tremendously large, with around 250 players competing on the winter tour," Gaquin said. "But we believe it impractical both to launch a minor tour and also to cut our schedule."

Russians Beat American Cagers

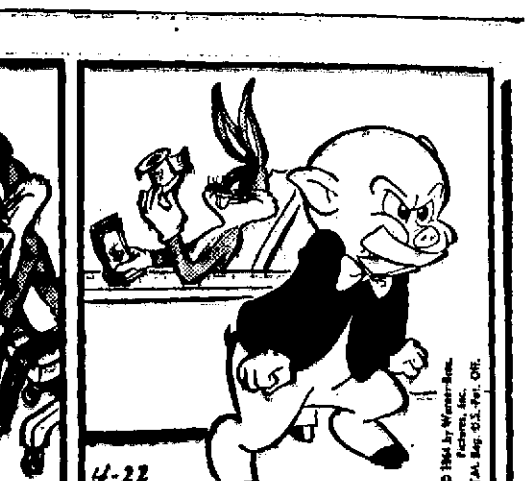

MOSCOW (AP) - An American men's basketball team has been beaten on Soviet soil for the first time in seven years of U.S.-U.S.S.R. competition.

The Russian national team accomplished the feat Tuesday night, defeating a touring AAV club, 82-65, before a turnaway crowd of 16,000, including two Soviet spacemen, at the Sports Palace.

Can't Count Out Dodgers, League Told

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Philadelphia Manager Gene Mauch, viewing the Dodgers' worst start in Los Angeles history with extreme caution, warned the rest of the National League today not to be lulled into false security.

"This is only temporary," said Mauch of the Dodgers' dismal record of six losses in their first seven games. "They are a sleeping giant right now. But you know they're going to wake up soon."

The youthful pilot made it clear he was in no mood for crowing despite his team's top record of four victories in five starts.

"We just happened to get off to a fast start while the Dodgers got off slowly," he said. "But we're not going to be lulled to sleep by their slump. We know they're a fine club and they'll start playing the brand of ball they are capable of. It's just a matter of time."

"The worst thing we can do is take the Dodgers lightly," Gene added. "That goes for any other club in this league. Take any one of them lightly and they'll pinch your ears back."

"Look what happened to the Phillies last year. We took 31 games from the New York and Houston clubs in 1962. Last year we won only 20 from the same clubs. It just proves what can happen."

Mauch was somewhat concerned by the early season belting of the San Francisco and Milwaukee hitters.

"They sure can throw a scare at you," he said, "especially those Giants. They are the only club in our league who can look bad and still beat you. You hold 'em or six, seven innings and then bang, bang, bang. Those shots you heard come from the bats of Mays, McCovey and Cepeda."

"The Dodgers and Cards must play good to win. We must play good to win. They can play bad and still win."

Spends More Time on Train Than Running

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—If they gave an Olympic medal for train riding, Jackie Peterson would probably win it with two transfers at Grand Central Station to spare.

A girl quarter-miler, she spends more time on the train than on the track.

It's all part of the problem a girl runner faces in these parts, where about the only time anyone ever pays any attention to her is when she finishes well to the rear of a Russian.

Jackie is 22, and the newly crowned AAU indoor quarter-mile champion, a title she won at Madison Square Garden before a full house.

"It was one of the few times they ever let the girls run in front of a crowd," Jackie said. "Usually we run our races right after the ushers arrive. It was nice to run in front of somebody."

Jackie's winning time was 59.5, not particularly good by world standards, but she hopes to trim it to about 55 seconds by this summer, and win a trip to Tokyo for the Olympics in October.

That's where all the train riding comes in.

Jackie works out on a track in Brooklyn most of the time—it's almost the only one available in the New York area, and the only place where she can find other girls to run with.

"I like to have some company when I train," she said, "and some competition too. It's pretty hard work, getting in condition for something like the Olympics, and it's a little easier when you have company."

But Jackie is a dental technician in Scarsdale, N.Y., a suburban city on the other side of Manhattan and a long way from Brooklyn.

"I usually leave the office at 4 o'clock, and get the 4:20 train for Grand Central," she said. "I switch to the Lexington Avenue subway there. In Brooklyn I change to the 'A' train, and then to the 'D.' Then I have about a five-minute walk. It takes more than two hours. Then I have my workout."

Jackie lives at home with her father and mother in Mt. Vernon, while her husband, James Hardy, is in the Navy. They met at high school in Mt. Vernon, and sometimes run together.

Thinks His Team Going All Way

TORONTO (AP)—Manager Coach Sid Abel expressed new confidence that his Detroit Red Wings would go all the way after scoring a 2-1 victory over Toronto in the National Hockey League Stanley Cup playoff finals Tuesday night.

The triumph gave the Red Wings a 3-2 edge in the best-of-seven series which returns to Detroit Thursday night. A seventh and deciding game, if necessary, will be played at Toronto Saturday night.

"For perhaps the first time in the series I feel really confident we can take them," Abel said. "We came out fast in the first period and beat them to the puck all the way except for the final period."

The eventual winning goal was scored early in the third period by Eddie Joyal. He took a perfect pass from Andre Prokhorov and rammed the puck through Toronto goalie Johnny Bower's legs.

Yogi Is Not Worried Over Being Last

By JOE MOOSHIL
Associated Press Writer

CHICAGO (AP)—Yogi Berra chomped on a big black cigar and with Chicago's wind blowing the few remaining strands of his hair he philosophically remarked:

"So we're in last place. So what. If this were the last week of the season, I might be worried. But this is the first week of the season."

With that the freshman manager of the New York Yankees predicted his club will repeat for the American League pennant.

"Look at this way," said Berra. "How would you like to have my starting line-up? Would you trade it for any other club in the league?"

Berra was unconcerned over the fact that the Yankees were in last place in the American League with a 1-4 record.

"Remember," said Berra, "we could just as easily have been 4-1. We lost three games in extra innings."

Despite the Yankees' bad start Berra said he loved managing. "The only bad point of managing is losing extra inning games," remarked Berra. "We have had good pitching and I know my guys will hit. If they don't, then I'll know it's just a bad year."

Berra said the act that he had inherited a league champion club had put no undue pressure on him.

"We lost three extra inning games and we didn't look too good in spring training. But I'll bet there isn't a team in the American League that wouldn't trade its starting line-up for mine. So why should I worry?"

South, North Players Are Matched

By KEN ALYTA

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP)—The 62nd North and South Women's Amateur Golf Championship was just that today as quarterfinals matched four Northern players against four Southern swingers.

Nancy Roth, defending champion from Hollywood, Fla., met Mrs. Joseph Nesbitt of Greenwich, Conn., in the opening match. Then came Phyllis (Tish) Preuss of Pompano Beach, Fla., and Mrs. Philip Cudone of West Caldwell, N.J.

In the lower bracket Barbara White of Shreveport, La., was matched with Mrs. Helen Sigel Wilson of Gladwyne, Pa., and Louise Fike of Wilson, N.C., played Mrs. George Trainor of Rochester, N.Y.

Second round matches Tuesday produced a pair of surprises among players in the "middle" group.

Mrs. Trainor, playing her first competitive golf since last September, trimmed the No. 1 player in the Carolinas, Marge Burns of Greensboro 3 and 1.

Miss Fike, playing to a three handicap, upset Mrs. Harton Temple of Sewickley, Pa., national quarter-finalist last year, 3 and 1.

Miss Burns lost the first four holes to Mrs. Trainor, then battled back to even the match on the 12th green only to lose the next two holes.

Miss Burns lost the first four holes to Mrs. Trainor, then battled back to even the match on the 12th green only to lose the next two holes.

Miss Fike, even after nine holes on the sun-scorched Pinehurst Country Club No. 2 course shot the next seven holes over par to beat Mrs. Sample.

MEXICO CITY (AP)—America defeated Monterrey 6-5 Tuesday night and won Mexico's Presidential Soccer Tournament in a game that went into two overtimes and finally was decided on penalty kicks.

In the ninth, the lights flashed again when Bill Bryan homered for the A's, but Ted Abernathy came on to preserve Jim Grant's triumph.

Freese's three-run shot capped a homer derby that left the two teams one shy of the National League single game record. Roberto Clemente, Dick Schofield and Jim Pagarioni also homered for the Pirates while Jimmy Stewart, Andre Rodgers, Ron Santo, Billy Cowan and Billy Williams connected for the Cubs.

Four of Chicago's homers were off Vern Law. Roy Face got the victory while Fred Norman lost it.

Vada Pinson cracked two singles and a triple, Pete Rose collected a double and two singles and Chico Ruiz hit an inside-the-park homer as the Reds belted the Colts.

Cincinnati starter Jim O'Toole was forced to leave after six innings because of a bruise on his pitching hand from a shot off Pete Runnels' bat. The John Tsiouris finished up. Jim Owens took the loss.

Frank Lary, Larry Sherry and Phil Regan collaborated on the pitching for the Tigers, limiting the Angels to six hits. Sherry got the victory with three hitless innings.

Indians Ruin Kansas City's Home Debut

By MIKE RATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer

Charles Finley doesn't need a pennant porch. He needs a right fielder on stilts.

Finley's right fielder, Rocky Colavito, had all the other equipment, a glove, spikes and a wedding gown white uniform, but without the stilts he just couldn't handle Leon Wagner's high, towering homer that triggered Cleveland to a 5-3 victory over Kansas City Tuesday night.

The Indians' victory ruined the A's home debut and spoiled the coming out party for the porch, but in no way dimmed the festivities. A few more innovations from Finley and Kansas City could have held its own World's Fair.

There were these attractions provided by the A's owner for the 28,185 on hand in multi-hued Municipal Stadium:

—The A's, dressed in their alternate uniforms of wedding gown white, trimmed in Ft. Knox gold with Kelly green sleeves.

—A battery of 60 green and gold lights and three loud horns, set to go off for every A's homer in place of the fireworks the city has banned Finley from using.

—The outfield walls, painted green and gold and splotted with question marks where white lettering compared fence distances with New York's Yankee Stadium.

—The porch, an area in right field that reduces the dimensions of Municipal Stadium, bringing them more in line with the distances at Yankee Stadium.

The A's looked sharp. The outfield walls were informative. And the lights worked. But the porch didn't.

Finley built the porch to catch the A's homers. It was bigger originally, but didn't conform to baseball rules and was whittled down in size. It stood there bekloning Tuesday night—but all three homers hit eluded it.

Meanwhile, homers were hit all over Wrigley Field in Chicago, Pittsburgh defeating the Cubs 8-5 on Gene Freese's pinch-hit homer in the ninth inning—the ninth homer of the game.

In the only other games played, Cincinnati walloped Houston 10-5 with a 16-hit attack and Detroit whipped the Los Angeles Angels 6-4.

The Philadelphia at New York and Washington and Minnesota games were rained out.

Wagner came up in the eighth with the Indians trailing 2-1 and slammed his homer, far over Finley's porch. Diego Segui, the losing pitcher, had shot Kansas City into the lead with a homer in the seventh.

In the ninth, the lights flashed again when Bill Bryan homered for the A's, but Ted Abernathy came on to preserve Jim Grant's triumph.

Freese's three-run shot capped a homer derby that left the two teams one shy of the National League single game record. 1000 to 1 Means Little to Owners

By KELSEY STURGEON

Associated Press Sports Writer

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Admiral's Heart, a sickly, boney, little colt who was purchased as an undernourished yearling for $500, is listed at 1,000-1 in the Kentucky Derby Future Book, but this means nothing to his owners.

The Nocero brothers, six of them in all, have made up their minds to send Admiral's Heart in the Kentucky Derby—if they can keep him in good health for the May 2 Run for the Roses.

Admiral's Heart made the second start of his career Tuesday at Keeneland and finished a tired fourth in a six-furlong event for 3 and 4-year-olds which have never won a race.

In the only other start of his career, he finished last, beaten 22 lengths last Sept. 23 at Latonia.

But this has done nothing to dim the spirit and enthusiasm of the brothers six—Rinzy, Roger, Boniface (just call him Joe), Macistro, Carmen and Rudy.

"We're happy with what he did," said Roger Nocero, who trains the colt, as he reviewed Tuesday's race. "He had the lead for a while—which isn't bad considering he's been sick and off his feet."

Roger, getting some help from Rinzy, a muscle-bound former prize fighter who you would think twice about before saying, explained that the Admiral came down with a virus about a week ago and hasn't been feeling so good.

"But we think it's all cleared up now," he said. "We're going to watch him close—and if he's okay—we plan to send him back in the Derby Trial next Tuesday, and then the Derby."

"I'm just anxious to see how he breaks against those big-shot colts," said Rinzy, explaining the horse was bred for both speed and distance. Admiral's Heart is a son of Blue Admiral-Sis Kiss by Seven Hearts.

The brothers plan to split the Derby expenses for the colt—which could run as high as $1,800-$1,900, including starting fees. And Rinzy is quick to point out that they're all glad to do it.

The brothers are from Park Hills, Ky., a northern Kentucky community near Cincinnati. Rinzy and Roger own a liquor store and Joe and Macistro own a grocery and meat market. Rudy is a professional dancer in New York while Carmen manages a drug store in that city.

Warriors Warned Against Fighting

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—

Boston's Celtics and the San Francisco Warriors meet again tonight at the Cow Palace with the Warriors battling to stay in the National Basketball Association playoffs and avoid a white-washing.

Not since 1959 when the Celtics beat the Lakers of Minneapolis four straight has the final playoff been determined in the minimum number of games.

Alex Hannum of San Francisco vows it won't happen this time although his club rails two games to none. He also said they'll win in seven even though no NBA club has won a playoff after losing the opening pair.

Red Auerbach of Boston has warned the Warriors against fisticuffs such as marked the second game in the Boston Garden when Wilt Chamberlain decked Clyde Lovellette with a right to the nose.

Gene Conley Unemployed

BALTIMORE (AP)—Gene Conley, the longtime multiple job major leaguer, is unemployed.

The Boston Red Sox have waived for $1 the 6-foot-8 giant with an ailing pitching arm and an estimated $28,000 price tag.

"Conley no longer figures in our pitching plans," Manager Johnny Pesky said Tuesday night in making the announcement. "We are going with the younger pitchers. Conley said his arm was okay but we knew it wasn't."

"I still think I can do some club a lot of good," Conley said from his Foxboro, Mass., home in obvious disappointment. "I am not ready to quit yet."

Anderson Agency Outlines Special Insurance Services for Customers of This Area

We proudly present . . .

Sound a bit trite? Well, by golly, we are proud. We're proud of our unique insurance service and mighty proud of a list of clients that reads like "Who's Who" in Southwest Arkansas' successful businesses.

The objects of our pride are as closely related as brothers. Many thriving firms look to us for insurance advice and management. Such successful businesses reach their estates because of discrimination in selecting supporting services. We, too, are careful in selecting our clients, and for reasons that make sense.

So, on the following pages we proudly present a brief outline of the insurance services offered by The Roy Anderson Insurance Agency, Inc. Authorities in all lines of casualty, fire, marine, life and surety insurance, we are specialists in the field of risk analysis and loss prevention.

The phrase "insurance management" best describes our role in your business. We join your attorney and accountant as a staff member. We are trained to analyze your needs, to advise you, to place your insurance in the capable hands of leading old-line companies and to provide a unique and continuous service.

A study of this brochure reveals an unusual insurance service. We can offer this because of discriminatory selection of clients and sound field underwriting. These characteristics allow us to allocate ample time to the servicing of each account acceptable to our underwriting requirements.

The most important quality that any business possesses beyond its ability to earn money is its ability to preserve that money-making business and its reputation. You must devote your time to operating the business profitably; we serve to preserve the business, its earnings and its reputation through loss prevention.

We solicit an opportunity to earn your complete insurance account.

Insurance Control: Your firm has need of a definite plan that will permanently control your insurance problem, yet require a minimum of your time. Such a plan is provided by our management service. Risk analysis takes the guess work out of insurance, and our staff provides continuing insurance supervision.

This management service includes the establishment and maintenance by us of a modified insurance department in your office. When this is properly accomplished we know that our regular calls to your firm will waste neither your time nor ours. In most cases the "insurance department" consists of one or two file drawers and a place for a member of our staff to work when he visits. The contents of the file drawers, however, spell the difference between efficient insurance management and simple, indiscriminate policy buying.

In this department we establish and maintain the following:

Current policies. Insurance certificates — From employees who use their car in your business. From warehouses, subcontractors, truckmen, etc.

Complete inventories of all owned items at your location or in the custody of warehouses, processors, sub-contractors or elsewhere.

System to account for insurable value of shipments. System to account for expenditures for non-owned vehicles. Complete claim records (a material aid in applying for rate reductions).

System to account for stock values. Insurance correspondence. Any other information necessary for the sound administration of your insurance program.

Note: —It is important to point out here that the information listed above is compiled by us with some assistance from the client. Without such up-to-date information it is impossible for any agent to properly write and control a program of business insurance.

Building Values: We recommend and arrange for immediate appraisals of buildings. Reappraisals are made from time to time depending upon the fluctuation of the replacement market. Fire insurance is of little value unless building values are established competently and regularly.

Equipment Values: We make frequent check-ups to determine what effect new purchases, depreciation and obsolescence have had on equipment values and the insurance covering such property.

Stock Values: Annual, semi-annual, quarterly or monthly consideration is given to the value of merchandise, supplies, profits and the insurance covering thereon.

Rate Changes: Our system provides for prompt notification in the event of any rate reduction which would entitle you to a premium refund or extension of coverages under existing policies.

Fire Rate Analysis: We guarantee a frequent analysis of your fire insurance rates to determine whether any reduction is warranted by reason of changes in fire protective services or devices, business operations, adjacent exposures, the tenancy of your building, or by reason of any other factors relating to fire rating procedures.

Experience Rate Service: Frequently the rates on certain casualty lines (liability, workmen's compensation, etc.) are determined from your own loss experience. It is important, therefore, that someone familiar with the loss experience and rate trend in these lines and offer suggestions for the correction of unfavorable factors whenever they develop.

Audit Examination: We work very closely with your bookkeeping department in the inspection of all payroll audits in connection with workmen's compensation and liability policies to see that payrolls have been properly classified. Occasionally a premium overcharge results from failure to make proper allocation of these items or the class of work each employee does.

Claim Adjustment Service: When a loss occurs, it becomes our personal concern. You have a right to expect us to respond at any hour of the day or night when a loss occurs requiring personal or emergency service. We become your representative and your intermediary when a claim arises. We ascertain that the loss is adjusted promptly and in conformity with the contract. The intervention of third parties who charge substantial fees for their services thus becomes unnecessary. In most instances, where an adjuster is necessary, we will use the services of the General Adjustment Bureau, a service provided by subscriptions of most of the old-line capital stock companies for their local agents' use.

Accident and Loss Prevention Service: Even when adequate and proper insurance is carried, accidents can still cost you money. You lose the services of injured employees or are deprived of the use of equipment damaged in the accident, and losses paid by insurance companies are ultimately reflected in higher rates. Consequently, loss prevention is as important a service as loss adjustment.

While every insurance company offers some type of loss prevention service, the quality of this service and its value to you are greatly influenced by the active interest of a competent agent, by his personal study of your accident problem, and by his close cooperation with your safety personnel and the insurance company's safety engineer.

Check on Policy Warranties: We make periodic check-ups to be certain that you are meeting all warranties and conditions under the terms of your insurance policies. Violation of certain warranties might well nullify your protection.

Advice on New Contracts: Prompt notification whenever a new or improved form of insurance contract applicable to your business is placed on the market. This happens at frequent intervals. In many cases, the new contracts provide broader protection than the forms previously prescribed and

Maple Trees Get Pills for Fever

By DON GUY

WEST SPRINGFIELD, N.H. (AP)—Maple trees are taking pills for spring fever these days. Sugar maples get tired of working when hit by the first warm freezes.

The farmers aren't taking pills. They feel fine. It looks like a bumper cash crop of maple syrup will flow from the annual rite of "sugarin' off" in New England this season.

Farmers pop the magic little pill into the maples when they first drill a tap hole.

The pill makes the watery sap flow later in the season insuring a longer "run" as long as the combination of warm days and snappy nights lasts.

"I'm sure they help. I tested several hundred trees, marked them with paint. The trees with pills give more sap over a longer season," says Kirk Heath. His sugar house is on land farmed by his family since before the Revolution.

Farmers always have been puzzled when certain trees seemed to run dry. Federal and state agricultural experts studied the problem. They found that the flow of sap was slowed by the growth of micro-organisms in the wound caused by the drill hole.

The pills act as a germicide over the length of the "sugarin' off" season which in New England runs from late February through March and April, depending on the locality.

Modern maple farmers such as the 54-year-old Heath have been able to stay in business only by abandoning most of the quaint and traditional ways of harvesting sap.

Step Toward Deciphering Genetic Code

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
AP Science Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Scientists today announced a great new step toward deciphering the genetic code of life itself.

This code determines all your heredity—eye color, sex, even partly your chances for long life—and how all living cells behave.

Man's telegraphic Morse code can say anything just with dots and dashes. Nature's genetic code is basically simple, too. It uses only four chemical "letters."

But no one knows how nature forms thousands of words or commands with those few letters. A long sentence of these words is a gene.

Now researchers have succeeded in making synthetic bits of genetic material. They know, in advance, the sequence of letters in each simple piece.

These bits of "genes" now can be used to make short pieces of protein—the material all life is made of.

By determining what kind of protein is made each time, they could trace back to spell out nature's full code that makes people or animals or plants what they are, and in such tremendous individuality.

The new step is chemical methods of making the synthetic chains of genetic material, or DNA.

These were described to the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology by a team of University of Wisconsin researchers, headed by Dr. H. Gobind Khorana. He's been searching for this key for 10 years.

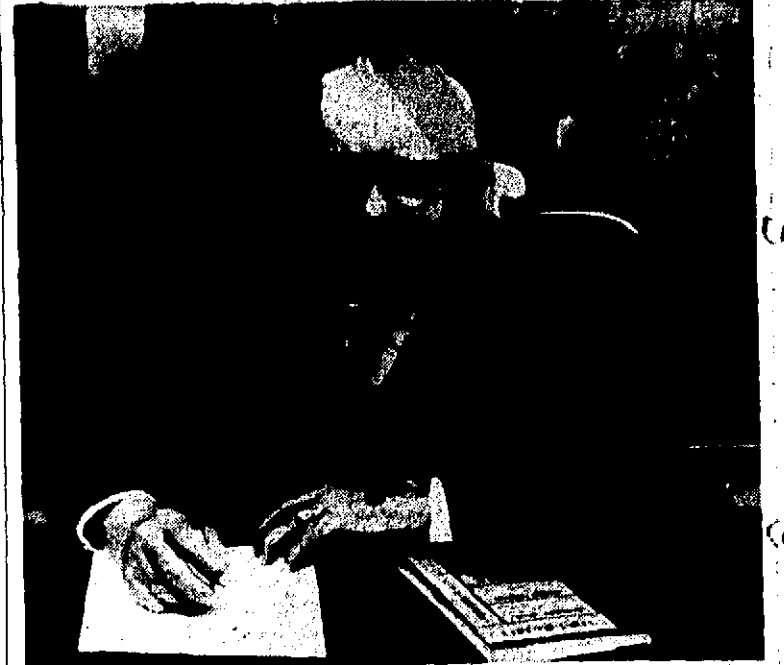

Dr. T. Mathai Jacob presented today's report. Drs. Malcolm W. Moon, Saran A. Narang and Eiko Ohtsuka are co-authors.

Their models of genes are biologically active. In the presence of certain enzymes or chemical starters, they can be made into longer chains of DNA or they can make long chains of another basic life material, unload individual buckets from several thousand trees every morning. Heath uses about six miles of plastic tubing to connect 3,000 hillside trees, so that the sap flows downhill to big collecting tanks.

Certain trees flow earlier from parts of the hillside first, warmed by the morning sun. Heath uses walkie-talkie radios to talk to his men in the woods and route the flow of sap.

Founder of Local Agency

Roy Anderson

FOUNDER OF THE AGENCY THAT BEARS HIS name, Mr. Roy Anderson serves as its Secretary. Although not retired, Mr. Roy says he is taking it "easier" these days. This year marks the 34th year of the agency's existence and Mr. Anderson's advice and counsel is as valuable today as it has been over the years. Continued growth of the agency over this period is testimony to the high esteem and confidence which the citizens of Southwest Arkansas have held in Mr. Anderson. To his many friends both in and out of the insurance industry, Mr. Roy is known as "Mr. Insurance." In addition to Mr. Anderson's insurance activities, he has a long history of community service achievements. He is a past president of the Hope Chamber of Commerce; past president of the Rotary Club; treasurer of the Masonic Lodge for 37 years; and has served on more Boards of Directors than you can count on both hands. Mr. Anderson was married to the former Vera Murphy. Mrs. Anderson passed away in August, 1962. They have one daughter, Mrs. Thompson Evans, Jr.

RNA. The RNA is the gene copy.

It is RNA that directs the making of all kinds of proteins needed in each cell, by making use of some or all of 20 different units or amino acids.

Dr. Khorana's group developed two methods of making DNA chains of a known sequence of letters.

One method adds code letters one at a time to a growing chain. The other takes pre-formed pairs of code letters and polymerizes or runs them together. Needed is a chemical that brings about the proper linkage between the letters. Two have been found.

Deciphering of the code could lead to possible prevention or correction of some inherited diseases, better control over cancer, or improving animal, plant or even human heredity.

Memorial Plaza to Kennedy

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Workers will begin constructing the John F. Kennedy Memorial Plaza late next year and will complete it early in 1966, County Judge Lew Sterrett said Monday.

The park-like plaza will envelop a one-block area less than two blocks from where President Kennedy was assassinated Nov. 22.

The John F. Kennedy Citizens Memorial Committee of Dallas will pay for any statue or marker placed in the plaza, Sterrett said.

Rockefellers to Match Art Money

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Arts Center initiated its 1964 fund drive for $219,410 Monday night and immediately got a promise of $225,000 in "challenge grants."

The Rockefeller Brothers Fund announced that the center would be given $100,000 this year if patrons will donate $50,000. Other grants of $75,000 in 1965 and $50,000 in 1966 were announced. The amount of matching money required of patrons will be increased.

Mrs. Winthrop Rockefeller is president of the board of trustees of the center.

Lodge Placed in Receivership

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP) — Federal Judge John E. Miller placed the $1.5 million Mountain Inn Motor Lodge at Fayetteville in receivership Monday and named Charles A. Aubrey of Dallas receiver.

Aubrey was to take custody of the property today in federal district court here. The main portion of the lodge, a 90-room section, was built shortly after the Civil War. A $755,245 addition containing 90 rooms was added two years ago.

$33 Million Plant Going to Helena

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Arkansas Louisiana Chemical Co. will build a $33 million fertilizer and industrial chemical plant near Helena which will employ 185 skilled workers.

W. R. Stephens, president and board chairman of Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co., confirmed the plans Monday after mentioning the plant in a talk Friday at Helena.

Arkansas Louisiana Chemical is a wholly owned subsidiary of Arkla Gas Co.

Stephens said the proposed plant, which Arkla would build if no other major chemical company was interested, would have a capacity of 600 tons a day.

It will be built on a 200-acre tract two miles south of Helena on the Mississippi. The site is next to Arkansas Power & Light Co.'s steam generating plant. Work will begin in July.

Stephens said the plant will

New Members Named to AP Board

NEW YORK (AP) — Members of The Associated Press have elected two new directors and re-elected five members of the board.

All five incumbents on the ballot were re-elected Monday at the annual meeting of the worldwide news cooperative.

Richard Lloyd Jones Jr., Tulsa Tribune, was elected to succeed Wright Bryan, Cleveland Plain Dealer, who resigned last April 30 and whose term expired Monday.

Frank A. Daniels, Raleigh (N.C.) Times, was elected to replace the late Millard Cope San Antonio (Tex.) Standard-Times. The term expires April 19, 1965.

Re-elected were: Benjamin M. McKelway, Washington (D.C.) Sunday Star; Eugene C. Pulliam, Phoenix (Ariz.) Gazette; William Dwight, Holyoke (Mass.) Transcript - Telegram; Henry D. Bradley, St. Joseph (Mo.) Gazette 1 Sunday News-Press, and Harry F. Byrd Jr., Winchester (Va.) Evening Star.

Byrd represents cities of less than 50,000 population.

The list of candidates was drawn up by the nominating committee. At least two nominations are required for each vacancy on the board. Directors' terms are three years.

The Associated Press members also approved applications by 16 associate member newspapers to become regular members.

Presentation of an 11-minute film, "Frontiers of News," showing the best pictures of the year by AP and AP member photographers, was a feature of the program.

Wes Gallagher, AP general manager who introduced the film and other special events at the meeting, told the members that the Museum of Modern Art here had just added the film to its permanent collection of film classics—"even in advance of its first public showing here today."

The film was produced by documentary specialist Willard Van Dyke in cooperation with an AP team headed by Daniel De Luce, executive assistant to the general manager.

Reports of the nominating and auditing committees were read by their chairmen, J. M. Blacklock, Columbia (S. C.) Record and Frank S. Hoag Jr., Pueblo (Colo.) Chieftain.

Elected to the nominating committee for two-year terms were J. L. Stackhouse, Easton (Pa.) Express; Arthur P. Gallagher, Ann Arbor (Mich.) News; Peyton Anderson, Macon (Ga.) News and Telegraph, and Carroll W. Parcher, Glendale (Calif.) News Press.

They will serve with four committee members whose terms produce ammonia, ammonium nitrate, urea and other chemicals. Helena voters will be asked in June to approve an Act 9 bond issue to pay for construction of the facility.

Business After Top Students

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Business is still giving top students in college graduation classes a rush. But this year there's a difference.

The ardent wooing of any and all college engineering seniors by aerospace and electronics companies which followed the Soviet orbiting of its first Sputnik has slumped, especially on the Pacific Coast.

Even worse from the student's point of view, the big annual increase in starting pay has slowed to a crawl in the jet-age specialties and also in most other fields.

Much of the blame is placed on defense contract losses by some companies. But also the post-Sputnik efforts of both government and private business to encourage youth to study engineering has been bearing fruit. The supply of recruits is catching up with the lessening demand.

Top students are still sought even by the defense industries. And college placement offices report the demand heavy for good students in accounting, mathematics, chemistry and physics. If anything, there's been an increase in job opportunities in banking, insurance, retailing and sales.

But almost all sections of the nation report the summer job market growing poorer each year.

Many in this year's graduating classes aren't affected yet because they are going on to further studies. A survey by the Family Economics Bureau of Northwestern National Life Insurance Co. of Minneapolis, Minn., shows graduate schools taking nearly half of the business majors and a third of the engineers.

Seniors being signed up this spring are reported averaging about 2 per cent more this year
